

How Can Microsoft Surface Change Your Business?

Whether you have an office, work from home, or anywhere in between. Coreio has you covered.

More than half of Canadian businesses have remote employees and contractors who need the right tools to be productive wherever they are. That's why Coreio is partnering with Microsoft to let our clients try the latest Microsoft Surface devices, absolutely free, and experience how they can transform your business.

The Surface is more than a laptop, more than a tablet; it's a platform for getting things done. Users can interact with it on their own terms, whether that's writing with a stylus, using a mouse and keyboard, or working directly on the touchscreen. It simplifies the way you work while enhancing collaboration, improving retention, and driving productivity.

And it couldn't be easier. We'll help you set up devices for your team, give you a guided tour of all the features and capabilities, provide ongoing support during the trial period, and collect your feedback after several months with the devices.

This is your chance to test drive the latest business technology with the expert support of the Coreio team at your back. We'll provide the concierge-level care you need to fully customize the Surface experience to your work environment and maximize the impact it makes.

Get in touch today and find out how the Microsoft Surface will change the way you work.
